

WARNING: PUTTING ADDICTION FORMING

When on the green and desiring a true roll, the Rife Putters Limited Edition Aussie blade putter delivers. If you're lucky enough to get your hands on one of the 200 Aussies that were made, you'll discover that the CNC-milled putter features Rife's patented RollGroove face technology. The RollGroove face, consisting of tightly spaced horizontal grooves, grips and lifts the ball at impact. This eliminates the "knuckleball" produced by smooth-faced putters that cause the ball to skip and skid before finally making a true roll.

Take An Inside Approach

Inside Approach is a simple training device that features a cylindrical-shaped cushion attached to a stand that is positioned directly over the ball along the intended target line. Golfers practice swinging a club under the cushion to correct their swing path mistakes. An instructional DVD or VHS featuring legend Jack Nicklaus comes with the training aid. Inside Approach, 1-888-610-3889, www.insideapproach.com

Tee It Up With Rip Tips

Golfers seeking more distance off the tee may find what they've been looking for with Rip Tips. With a three-point bristle design, Rip Tips slides onto any wooden tee and allows the golf ball to float above the tee's concave surface, ensuring zero friction and zero spin. Independent tests showed wooden tees with Rip Tips produced drives 27.3 yards longer than the same wooden tee without Rip Tips. Endorsed by world-renowned long driver John Daly, Rip Tips is also credited by 2005 ReMax World Long Drive champion Steve Griffith for his win at last year's finals. Rip Tips, 1-877-838-8125, www.riptips.com

Heavy Lifting

✓ The new Matte Series from Heavy Putter offers the same patented weight technology that has been the buzz in golf lately. While conventional putterheads weigh between 330 to 350 grams, Heavy Putter heads weigh between 450 and 500 grams. This increase in weight forces the large stabilizing shoulder muscles to play a more active role in the putting stroke, lessening pressure on small wrist muscles to perform. The design also promotes a pendulum stroke, leading to a more consistent swing path.

Definitely Not A Bore

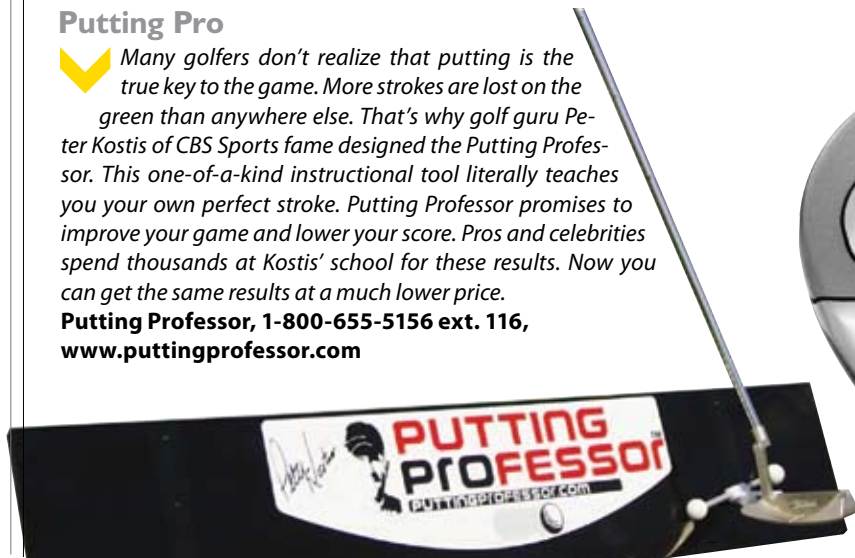

The new HiBORE driver from Cleveland Golf is drastically different from traditional drivers. Distance driven geometry allows the driver to perfectly align the center of gravity projection with the center of the clubface. The 25 grams of discretionary weight that has been added help make the HiBORE the longest, straightest driver ever tested by Cleveland Golf. Cleveland Golf, 1-800-999-6263;

Putting Pro

✓ Many golfers don't realize that putting is the true key to the game. More strokes are lost on the green than anywhere else. That's why golf guru Peter Kostis of CBS Sports fame designed the Putting Professor. This one-of-a-kind instructional tool literally teaches you your own perfect stroke. Putting Professor promises to improve your game and lower your score. Pros and celebrities spend thousands at Kostis' school for these results. Now you can get the same results at a much lower price.

Practice Almost Golf

Allowing golfers to practice or play anytime, anywhere without the worry of damaging anything, the Point 3 practice ball from almostGOLF weighs just 13.5 grams and carries one-third the distance that you would hit a traditional golf ball. Unlike hollow, plastic "wiffle-type" or foam balls, the Point 3 flies like a golf ball when struck and won't deform. With a COR rating of .32 (Point 3), the Point 3 has a realistic launch angle and spin off the clubface, so you can safely hit true fades, draws and even backspin shots to help accurately diagnose and correct swing flaws while practicing.
